LULAC NATIONAL PRESIDENT

D Garcia

Dear LULAC Familia,

As your National President and on behalf of the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), welcome to the 2019 State of Latinx America & Legislative Awards Gala. We are honored to come together on this occasion to celebrate the many accomplishments achieved together by working with our friends in the United States Congress. As we approach our 90th anniversary, LULAC is proud to say that as the nation's oldest and largest civil rights organization, we remain the country's leading independent voice defending the civil rights of 58-million Latinos in the United States and Puerto Rico. To fight for economic and political empowerment.

In the past several months since my election in Phoenix, we have witnessed LULAC reaching some important milestones. As is our legacy, we have led and moved forward. Recently, we met with the White House to express our strong support for federal workers while at the same time demonstrating our unwavering commitment to DACA recipients and TPS holders for path to citizenship. Similarly, we stood with the Central American refugee children and their families in demanding answers to a zero-tolerance policy that at best, offers a temporary response to an issue that requires a permanent solution --- comprehensive immigration reform. Even now, we are the lead civil rights organization fighting voter suppression attempts in Texas and won a similar battle in Dodge City, Kansas, to name just two examples.

Whether at state houses, county seats, city councils, school boards or other governmental agencies, LULAC is saying presente! LULAC members are speaking out front and center on such matters as the rights of all people to quality public education, against job discrimination, access to health care and housing, veterans' services, gender equality and to defend the constitutionally-guaranteed rights of all Latinos including the LGBTQ community. I could not be prouder nor more confident that in the days and weeks ahead, LULAC will continue to rise, overcome and prevail even in the face of daunting challenges. It is our mission and our calling which we will persevere to advance, not just for ourselves but for the generations to follow.

¡Hasta La Victoria!

Domingo Garcia
National President

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Sindy Benavides

Dear Emerge Students, LULAC Members & Partners,

Welcome to LULAC's State of Latinx America Summit and 22nd National Legislative Awards Gala. I am honored to celebrate our 90th anniversary with our LULAC family, friends in the United States Congress, movement underwriters, mission partners and special guests.

After 90 years of service, LULAC's founding purpose remains the same: to protect and defend Latinos across the U.S. and Puerto Rico. We know that there are many opportunities and challenges ahead in 2019. Today, more than ever, we must honor the work of lifelong advocates who fought courageously and sacrificed all to ensure that our children share in the promise of the American Dream. We must come together as a united Latino community, to empower the next generation of advocates. And what a generation of leaders it is --- as they work together to achieve an intersectional movement impacting communities beyond the surface and empowering their full potential.

This gathering brings together congressional leaders, community impact partners, researchers, policy practitioners and LULAC's membership from all corners to set the national agenda on issues of critical legislative priority to the Latino community nationwide. This is to ensure that the Latino voice is at the negotiating table and present in the halls of Congress during our full day of direct advocacy. We conclude our week-long celebration on Friday with the WeRun National Campaign Training Institute which seeks to increase the number of Latinos running in the next decade and beyond. We must be leaders in forming policy, creating our own narratives, sharing our stories, including the state of our communities through our own lens as advocates and elected leaders.

I also wish to thank our underwriting partners who help support our critical mission of advancing the economic condition, educational attainment, political influence, housing, health and civil rights of the Latinos/Hispanic population in the United States. Your investment makes it possible for LULAC, to implement programs and events in our communities like the State of Latinx America Summit that help reach and positively impact millions of Latino lives every day.

As I look ahead, I want to express my gratitude and thank you for your courage, your thoughtful investment of time, energy and resources. Thank you for being the beacon of hope that guides every decision that I make as CEO of the nation's largest and oldest Latino civil rights organization in the United States. It is an honor to serve in this capacity and I look forward to connecting with you personally throughout the Summit and beyond.

Together We Rise,

Sindy M. Benavides
LULAC National Chief Executive Officer

Welcome to the LULAC State of Latinx Summit and Legislative Awards Gala!

Congratulations to LULAC, its leadership, membership, and partners on 90 years of championing civil rights for Hispanic Americans throughout the United States.

It is an honor for AT&T to serve as the 2019-2020 LULAC Corporate Alliance (LCA) Chair. We look forward to partnering with our fellow corporate LCA members to help usher in a new era of leadership, growth, and engagement for the Latino community.

AT&T and LULAC have a longstanding history of working together on priorities affecting Hispanic Americans. Now more than ever, we must come together and support each other, as Latinos are at the center of a political shift and digital revolution.

We are in an era where it is easy to feel outraged, fatigued, and overwhelmed by the challenges facing our community- but when 60% of all Latinos are millennials and that number is still growing, that means our collective power is not only palpable, but inevitable, and undeniable. LULAC's legacy will be carried on by the largest and most mobilized generation of leaders yet.

I look forward to contributing to LULAC's mission and learning from its unmistakable impact on all Latinos and deepening our partnerships for lasting change.

Gracias y Adelante,

Celeste Carrasco

AT&T's Open Internet Commitment

An open internet is critical for ensuring freedom of expression and a free flow of ideas and commerce in the United States and around the world. People should be free to use the internet as they like — free to access lawful content and applications, free to use the devices they like, and more. Service providers should be free to innovate and invest, and free to compete to serve customers in the internet ecosystem.

AT&T provides broadband service and operates our network in an open and transparent way, and we will always do so. We will not block websites, we will not censor online content, we will not throttle or degrade internet traffic based on content, and we will not unfairly discriminate in our treatment of internet traffic.

Town Hall: State of Latinx Health

Health disparities (e.g., alcohol liver disease, HIV/AIDS, obesity, and mental health) impact Latinos in the U.S. These disparities are influenced by sociodemographic, behavioral, social, and societal factors including language and cultural barriers, lack of access to health care, and structural discrimination. This critical conversation on Latino health works to establish a solutions focused dialogue to tackle these issues by identifying disparities and exploring multi level interventions to address them.

All of Us
RESEARCH PROGRAM

We're calling on one million people to lead the way toward better health.

What is precision medicine?

Precision medicine is health care that is based on you as an individual. It takes into account factors like where you live, what you do, and your family health history. The goal is to be able to tell people the best ways to stay healthy. If someone does get sick, precision medicine may help health care teams find the treatment that will work best.

What is the All of Us Research Program?

The All of Us Research Program is a large research program. The goal is to help researchers understand more about why people get sick or stay healthy. People who join will give us information about their health, habits, and what it's like where they live. By looking for patterns, researchers may learn more about what affects people's health.

How do I join the All of Us Research Program?

There are three ways to join:

- Visit the All of Us website JoinAllOfUs.org.
- Download the All of Us app.
- If you get health care at one of our affiliated health care provider organizations, you can join there.

Because All of Us is research, you will be asked to complete an informed consent process. This process tells more about what is involved, and the risks and benefits of joining.

What will you ask me to do?

If you decide to join the All of Us Research Program, we will ask you to share different kinds of information. We will ask you basic information like your name and where you live, questions about your health, family, home, and work. If you have an electronic health record, we may ask for access. We might also ask you to give samples, like blood or urine.

How long will the All of Us Research Program last?

All of Us may last for at least 10 years. We hope you will stay involved over time. If you join, you can withdraw at any time for any reason without penalty.

Why should I join the All of Us Research Program?

You will be contributing to research that may improve health for everyone. Here are some examples of what researchers might be able to discover:

- Better tests to see if people are sick or are at risk of getting sick.
- Better mobile apps to encourage healthy habits.
- Better medicine or information about how much of a medicine is right for each person.

What will you do to protect my privacy?

We will take great care to protect your information. Here are a few of the steps we will take:

- Information we have about you will be stored on protected computers. We will limit and keep track of who sees the information.
- We will remove your name and other direct identifiers (like your Social Security number) from your information and replace them with a code.
- Researchers must promise not to try to find out who you are.
- We will tell you if there is a data breach.
- The All of Us Research Program has Certificates of Confidentiality from the U.S. government. This will help us fight legal demands (such as a court order) to give out information that could identify you.

Dear Emerge Latino Conference Participants, LULAC Collegiate Members, and Sponsors,

On behalf of the League of United Latin American Citizens, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2019 Emerge Latino Conference in the heart of our nation's capitol, Washington, D.C.! We are proudly entering our sixth year of hosting this three-day conference which offers collegiate participants from across the country an opportunity to receive valuable civic engagement and advocacy training; engage in public policy briefings on public health, education, and immigration; and have the opportunity to network with professionals at our conference career exposition.

Prepare yourself for these next couple of days, as you will be immersed in one of the most fast-paced conferences that you've ever attended. Every time that you step out of your room know that you are representing LULAC, the oldest and largest civil rights organization, know that you represent your university and, most importantly, know that you are representing yourself.

Since I was a small child, LULAC has allowed me to develop the skills necessary to not only represent my community but represent those who cannot represent themselves. I am positive that the experience you will undergo during this year's Emerge Latino Conference will be life-changing and will direct you towards your passion in public service and community work as it did for me.

Many of our attendees are first-generation college students who have taken this journey into higher education alone and my advice to you is to "be the person you wish you had growing up." Many of you are student leaders on your campuses who have eyes looking at you for guidance. Use this time to learn as much as you can to be able to provide resources and information to those who may not have afforded the opportunity to attend this conference.

This is the time to learn from all student leaders around you and become innovative in your thinking, fight for what is just, but most importantly, enjoy the experience of your own personal and professional growth. We have here the leaders of today and I look forward to engaging with all of you in the days ahead.

In Unity,
Andres Rodriguez
National Vice President for Young Adults
